Late catch-up: the scheduled morning run did not publish, so this edition was rebuilt at 15:54 IST using data verified from public sources. Pre-open figures are as-of the times shown; India figures are the 16 Oct close unless stated. Items marked n/a could not be verified.

TODAY'S BIAS IN BRIEF

Indian equities extended Thursday's rally: Sensex closed at 74,729.27 (+0.56%) and Nifty at 23,146.15 (+0.65%), the second straight gain, led by IT (Nifty IT up about 4%) while mid and small caps were flat to slightly lower (-0.11% and -0.01%). Nifty now sits just under the 23,200 resistance with 22,800 as first support; with foreign funds net sellers (-Rs 5,285 cr on 15 Oct) and the 50-DMA still overhead, this reads as a relief rally, not a confirmed trend change. Next session: Monday 19 Oct; Nifty weekly expiry is Tuesday 20 Oct.

Trading Ideas (illustrative index scenarios)

- Nifty holding above 23,200 on a closing basis would be a constructive sign; no higher resistance level was verified for this edition. A stop below 22,800 keeps risk defined.
- Failure to hold 22,800 would put the relief rally in doubt and shift focus to the 22,600 area (Thursday's pre-rally close).
- Sensex: sustained trade above 73,500-73,800 targets 74,700-75,000 per Choice Equity; failing support invites profit-booking.
